

Welcome to HAHN Automation Group, KY

Your Global Solution Partner for Factory Automation

The HAHN Automation Group leverages industry-specific know-how, an extensive project portfolio, and a global organization to provide service from a single source. For over 30 years, we have provided experience and international innovation to manufacturers, with a focus in the Automotive and Electronics, along with multiple other industries.

As a custom automation equipment provider, we develop, design, build, and integrate high-performance automation and solutions for manufacturer's companies. Our modular concepts allow us to tailor our solutions to the specific automation levels and production conditions of our customers. We offer semi-automated and fully-automated systems, full production lines, customized assembly, testing, machine tending, and standard robots for a variety of complex applications.

Tailoring Automation to Automotive and Electronics Manufacturers

Locally we specialize in the industrialization and assembly of mechatronic components. Our goal is to help customers achieve intelligent production that improves quality and adapts to all levels of automation.

Automotive. We Keep Things Moving All Over the World.

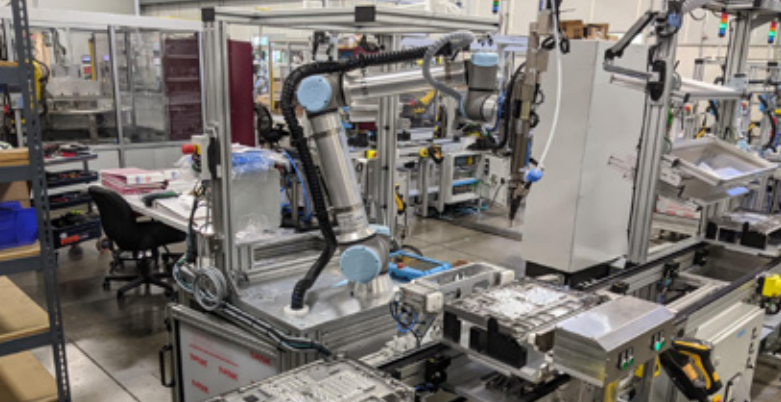

The HAHN Automation Group develops solutions with scalable layouts, enabling adaptive levels of automation tailored to customer-specific requirements. Our commitment to quality spans every process, from consulting and planning to assembly, testing, and inspection—delivering results that speak for themselves.

Automation Solutions for Industrial and Automotive Electronics

Our Cincinnati Area facility also provides cutting-edge production solutions for many essential electronic components. Our many years of expertise in insert molding enables us to offer custom automation and handling solutions with specialization in hybrid plastic components with metal inserts.
